Flu stats

TALLY: U.S. health officials say there are now 226 confirmed cases of H1N1 flu in 30 states.

QUARANTINE: Hong Kong, where SARS killed 299 in 2003, ordered a weeklong quarantine of a downtown hotel where a Mexican tourist was confirmed to have the illness, trapping 350 guests and employees inside. The tourist was in stable condition Sunday.

DON'T KILL THE PIGS: World Health Organization said slaughtering pigs is unnecessary because the virus is being spread through humans, and it says a swine herd in Canada likely was infected by a farm worker who returned from Mexico.

IN CHICAGO: Officials at the Illinois Department of Public Health as of Sunday morning report 99 confirmed or probable cases of H1N1 flu in Illinois. AP

Flu casualty: Handshakes

Concern of catching virus puts practice on hold

Newsday

Whether sealing a deal, showing you're a good sport or just saying hello, handshakes are an integral part of American society.

But in some circles, handshakes are becoming something of an endangered species, thanks to swine flu concerns.

Northeastern University in Boston did away with handshakes between deans and students at its commencement Friday. And the leader of Maine's Catholics asked worshippers not to shake hands during services, including the traditional "sign of peace."

On Long Island, at least one organization has barred any pressing of the flesh. The Long Island Junior Soccer League announced it would temporarily suspend handshakes between teams at the end of games.

Maybe the league should take a cue from baseball players and try the elbow bump—even the World Health Organization has encouraged it. The New York Times reported in 2006. A CDC scientist sent to Africa during Ebola outbreaks said, "I'll arrive on the tarmac and stick out a hand to say hello and someone from the WHO team will say ... 'We do the elbow bump now.'"

While some might consider fewer handshakes no big deal, others said it is serious business—and could seriously hurt business. "I think that tactile reinforcement really builds a sense of trust with another person," said Terri Morrison, author of "Kiss, Bow or Shake Hands," which explores greetings in different cultures. "If you get physically touched by the other person, you trust them more. You smile. It starts the relationship."

A house for a buck? What's the catch?

The Washington Post

"Finally, a mortgage I can afford." That was more or less the thought of thousands of people around the country who read online about an old, sprawling, two-story farmhouse in Leesburg, Va., on sale for a dollar.

There is a catch: The buyer must be able to afford to move the house. But after The Washington Post reported on the house a week ago, yahoo.com linked to the article on its home page and suddenly, it seemed, the whole world wanted in.

The article received 1.47 million hits on washingtonpost.com that day.

"I have to get there first," said one man, adding that he would have no problem towing the more than 2,500-square-foot structure to California.

E-mails flooded in from as far as Alaska and Great Britain from prospective buyers of the house, which is on property occupied by Loudoun Country Day School. The school plans to move to a $32 million, 70-acre campus this summer, and the eight-acre lot it is vacating will be used for an assisted-living facility.

Some inquiries were brief and businesslike. Others told heartfelt stories of need.

Dawn Hanlin, a 40-year-old single mother of two in Wintersville, Ohio, wrote that she had dreamed of owning a home but couldn't get a loan. "My aunt and uncle have property they own and would allow me to put the house on! I can just picture it! Makes me cry."

Edna Curry-Johnson, a mother of two in Alton, Ill., wrote, "If I can only wave a magic wand too, and say hey kids look, we don't have to be homeless now."

A buyer will need not only a dollar, but also the "financial means and a good understanding of what approvals are necessary" at the local and state levels, said Bo Cook, H.H. Hunt's director of development, adding that the company would hold an open inspection this month for serious bidders.

NUMBERS IN THE NEWS

$284,000

The ice on Alaska's Tanana River has broken apart, and now two lucky winners who guessed the timing of that much-awaited annual event will split a jackpot of nearly $284,000. The Nenana Ice Classic was launched in 1917 by Alaska Railroad workers trying to pass the long northern winter while waiting for spring breakup. Now thousands of Alaskans—and even some outside the state—participate.

8 minutes

After a date night out on Saturday evening, President Obama and First Lady Michelle Obama decided to take a stroll when their motorcade arrived back at the White House. So they began walking, swinging their hands together. There were no Secret Service agents right behind them—the agents stood off, in one of the rare moments that the Obamas had private space outside the White House walls.

Police in Vienna arrested a man suspected of slipping drugs into drinks at a crowded bar Sunday, causing five people to collapse. Authorities said all five victims were hospitalized in life-threatening condition. Investigators said it was unclear exactly what substance had been added to the drinks, but that it appeared to be some kind of narcotic. The victims drank freely, apparently unaware that anything was amiss. AP

TWEET OF THE WEEK

@thelocaltourist
My mom just did a jello shot.

You're hired— now start tweeting

People ask me all the time if RedEye is hiring people to tweet.

The short answer is no. While I am my paper's one-person tweet machine, my job is to build RedEye's brand and reputation by interacting with print readers and online followers as personally as possible.

But whether you work here or anywhere, companies big and small are realizing the importance of a strong social media presence, and some actually are hiring people to tweet and poke. Being able to sell yourself by showcasing those skills is nothing to LOL about.

So if you aren't tweeting and Facebooking and YouTubeing, you might be missing the opportunity of a lifetime.

For example, the Australian tourism board grabbed headlines a few months ago when it advertised for the "best job in the world," a six-month stint offering one lucky person the chance to tell the story of the Great Barrier Reef by writing a weekly blog and uploading photos and video.

And Pizza Hut just ended its search for a summer "twintern" to work in the PR department at the company's headquarters in Dallas. According to the ad, the twintern "will focus on new and emerging social media, such as Twitter, Facebook and others."

Surprisingly the twintern application is no different than your typical online job application where you type or paste a cover letter and upload a resume. I would have expected the person to have to describe why they want to work for Pizza Hut in 140 characters or less while juggling breadsticks.

Cool opportunity for sure, but Nike has Pizza Hut beat. It's looking for an 18- to 24-year-old woman—sorry, guys, it's girls only this time around—who really gets social media for what some might describe as a dream job. According to the job posting, the Nike Field Reporter will "jetset around the country on Nike's dime talking to athletes, artists and culture makers. You'll report back in the form of photos, videos and blog entries."

To apply, check out this link tr.im/k3R8. You need to write a sample blog post that introduces yourself and upload a video that explains why you are right for the job. This type of resume, which I refer to as a multimedia resume, is the wave of the future. Written resumes will go the way of cassettes and dinosaurs very soon.

What do you think of the social media push in the workplace? Tweet me, poke me—just tell me. No cover letter required.

HOMICIDE UPDATE

Murder numbers are down from last year, but their locations remain the same

By Tracy Swartz
REDEYE

The bloodshed began at about 1:15 a.m., when Christina Campos, 18, was shot and killed in South Deering as she hung out with two male friends.

It ended about 21 hours later when Lamont Johnson was fatally shot as he changed his tire at a Chatham gas station.

In between, three others were shot and killed in three separate shootings in Chicago on April 22, the deadliest day of the year so far.

The victims, three males, ranged in age from 23 to 38, according to the Cook County Medical Examiner's Office. They were shot in Englewood and Humboldt Park.

Though the day's death toll was unusual, the locations of the murders were not. Most of the 109 murders that occurred in the city in the first four months of the year were concentrated in South and West Side neighborhoods.

RedEye found that about one out of five of these murders occurred in Austin, West Englewood and Greater Grand Crossing. Most of the victims were black, male and between the ages of 20 and 25 years old. More than 80 percent of them were shot to death.

There were fewer murders in the first four months of this year compared with the same period last year, when police recorded 133 murders, but the locations of the murders and its victims seem to continue last year's murder trends despite police department efforts to target historically violent areas.

Police attribute the overall decrease in murders from last year to this year to "a number of violence reduction strategies," including mapping crime hot spots so specially trained units such as the Mobile Strike Force, Targeted Response Unit, Gang Enforcement Unit, Gang Intelligence Section and the Narcotics group can saturate areas prone to violence, Chicago Police Sgt. Antoinette Ursitti told RedEye in an e-mail.

A recently released police department report summarizing 2008 data found that police districts in the Greater Grand Crossing, Englewood and East Garfield Park areas had the highest murder rates last year.

Eighty percent of the 511 murders in 2008 involved a shooting and 229 murders stemmed from street gang strife or narcotics, the report revealed. The typical murder victim was black, male, between 17 and 25 years old and had a prior arrest history.

In the first three months of 2009, 65 percent

Two high-profile cases

In February, three students were gunned down near East 87th Street and South Exchange Avenue. Killed in the shooting were Kendrick Pitts, 17; Raheem Washington, 15; and 13-year-old Johnny Edwards (shown in a key chain photo held by his stepfather, Raymond Brown). Martin Ybarra, of the 8300 block of South Buffalo Avenue, has been charged with the three teens' murders. TRIBUNE FILE

In January, the ex-girlfriend and infant daughter of former Bulls center Eddy Curry were found dead in a South Loop town home. Authorities say Nova Henry and her 10-month-old daughter Ava (left) were shot and killed by Frederick Goings, a former boyfriend and attorney for Henry. Goings has pleaded not guilty in the case. HENRY FAMILY PHOTO

The strike force, a specialized unit intended to target gangs and guns, recently deployed about 50 more officers and supervisors to the streets.

Ursitti said the Bureau of Patrol and Investigative Services also will continue to coordinate resources and strategies to address any spikes of violence in the coming summer months. The murder rate tends to rise with the thermometer, data from the police department show. The deadliest month of 2008 was

July, which saw 64 murders. Community leaders say police effort is not enough to combat the violence in their neighborhoods, and more emphasis should be placed on giving children alternatives to violence.

Phillip Jackson, who founded the Black Star Project, which reaches out to black youths with education and job training programs, said the black community needs to educate youth and provide them with mentors so they don't look up to gang members or drug dealers.

"You've got to build strong institutions in the black community," Jackson said.

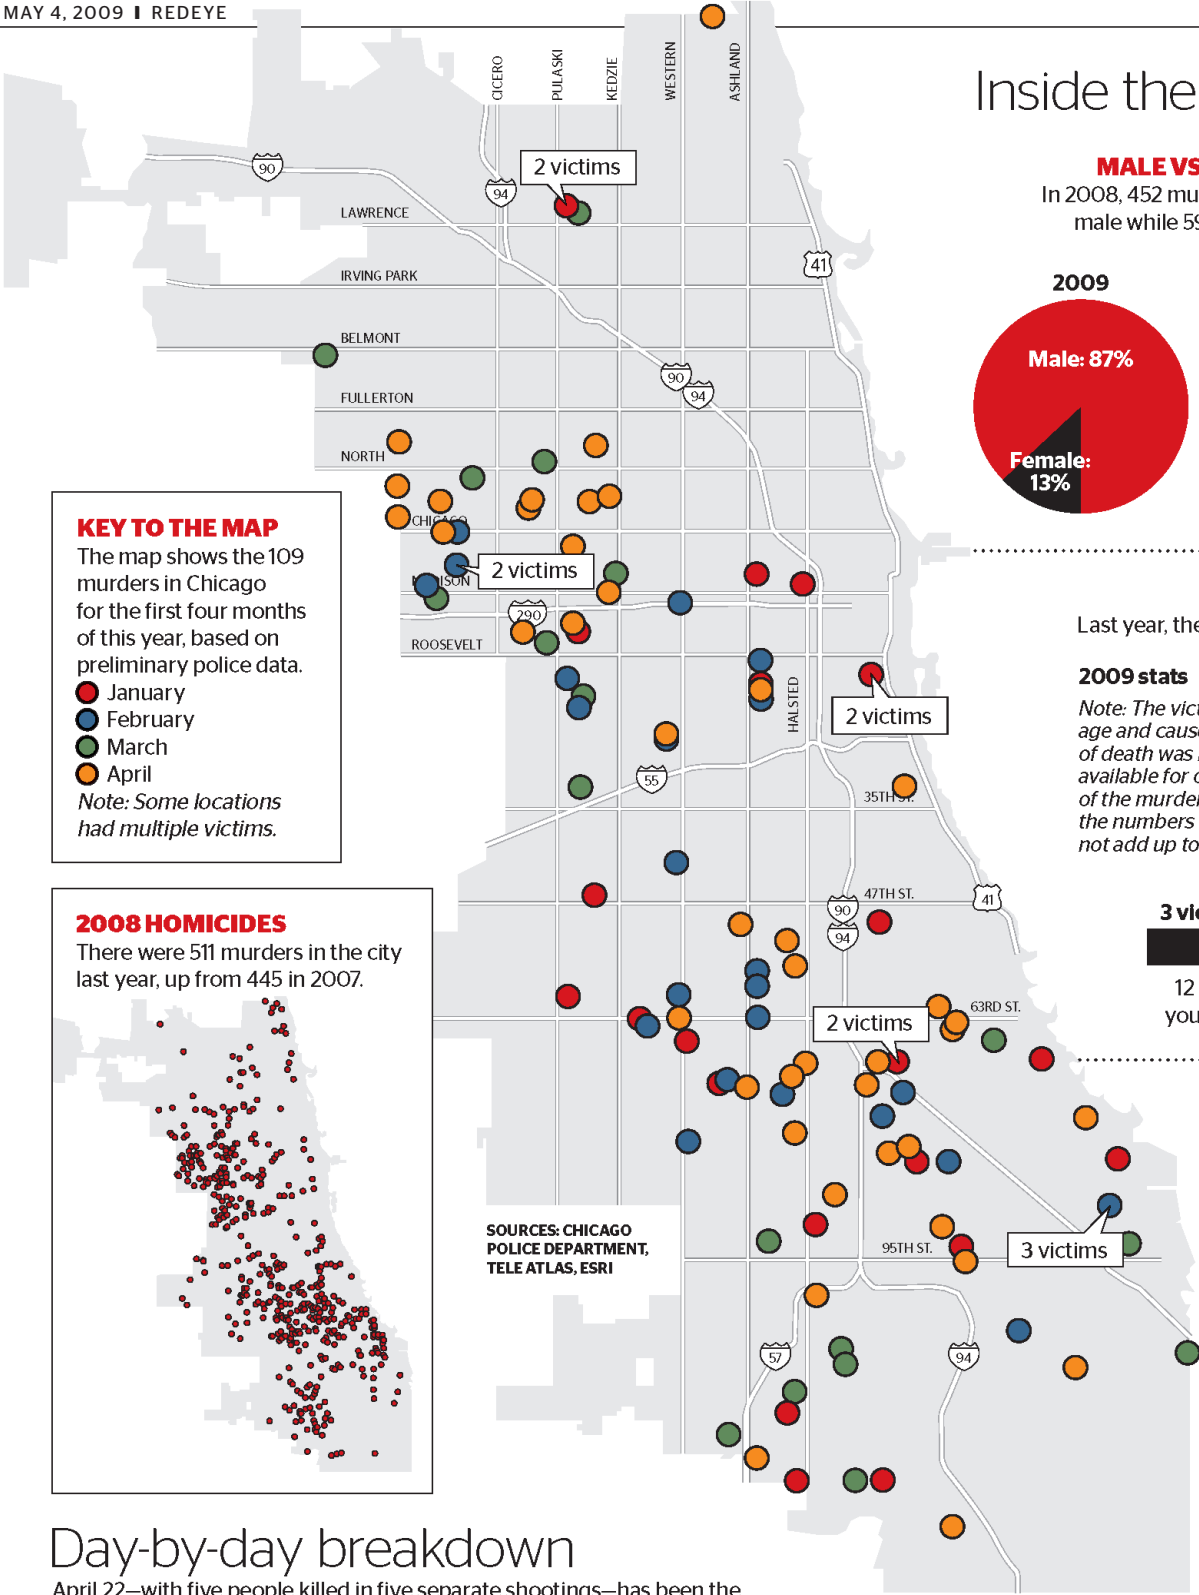

Mother Betty Price of Feed, Clothe and Help the Needy in West Englewood said her community needs to turn to a higher power: Faith.

"I think the only help is going to be God. This is too big for us," she said. "We're fighting a losing battle."

TSWARTZ@TRIBUNE.COM

Inside the numbers

(All 2009 numbers are through April 30.)

MALE VS. FEMALE
In 2008, 452 murder victims were male while 59 were female.

RACE OF VICTIMS
In 2008, 369 murder victims were black, while 139 were white or Hispanic. Three victims were labeled as "other."

AGE OF VICTIMS
Last year, the average age of murder victims was 28. The most frequent age of victims was 22.

CAUSE OF DEATH
In 2008, 80.6% of murder victims—412 people—were shot.

Day-by-day breakdown

April 22—with five people killed in five separate shootings—has been the deadliest day this year. Next deadliest are Jan. 28, Feb. 20, April 8 and April 23.

GIRL RESCUED FROM BURNING BUILDING

Chicago firefighters Sunday rescued a 10-year-old girl from a burning apartment building in North Austin, officials said. The blaze broke out just before 11:40 a.m. in a second-floor unit of a three-story building in the 1600 block of North Central Avenue, officials said. The girl suffered burns to her body and smoke inhalation. E. JASON WAMBSGANS/TRIBUNE

Man hit by taxi in Edgewater

A 42-year-old man was killed Sunday when he was struck by a taxi in Edgewater, police said. The incident occurred in the 5500 block of North Sheridan Road as the taxi exited a driveway but failed to yield to the victim, police said. The man was identified as Robert Deighton of Lake Oswego, Ore. The driver, Desta Pawlos, 29, was cited with failing to stop when emerging from a driveway or alley.

Girl asks Congress for help—and gets it

First, one Chicagoan—President Obama—highlighted the plight of a crumbling South Carolina middle school, featuring in his first address to Congress an 8th-grader's poignant plea for assistance as a symbol of the sorry state of the nation's schools. Now another Chicagoan—Darryl Rosser, president of an Oak Brook company—is stepping up to help, donating $250,000 worth of furniture to the school.

Motorcyclist killed on Lake Shore Drive

A motorcyclist was killed Saturday night in a crash near Lake Shore Drive and Randolph Street, officials said. The driver was headed south on Lake Shore when he struck a median wall and was ejected from the motorcycle, police said. Justin Jordan, 27, of the 8200 block of South Michigan Avenue was identified as the victim, according to the Cook County medical examiner's office.

Rio gets high praise

International Olympics officials finished their tour of Rio de Janeiro as a potential host of the 2016 Summer Games on Saturday and offered the same sort of high praise they previously heaped on competitors Chicago and Tokyo. The 13-member International Olympic Committee evaluation commission's chairwoman said the group was "highly impressed" with Rio. The Olympics commission visits the fourth finalist city, Madrid, next. TRIBUNE

Beaten, burned

10th-grader's body found in gangway on Southwest Side

Chicago Tribune

A 10th-grade Chicago Public Schools student was found shot to death Saturday afternoon in a gangway on the Southwest Side, his body seriously beaten and burned, authorities said.

Arellano

Alex Arellano's relatives said Sunday they were so concerned about threats that the 15-year-old sophomore was getting from gang members that they pulled him from Chicago Discovery Academy in the fall.

But they didn't know how serious the situation was until his uncle got a chilling call on Friday from a friend of the teen's, saying that he was being chased and beaten with bats in a neighborhood several miles from their home.

The teen's body wasn't found until Saturday at about 2:30 p.m. in the 3000 block of West 54th Place, a few blocks from where his uncle, Juan Tirado, had been directed, according to police. Arellano's death brings to 35 the number of CPS students killed this school year.

"He was knocked down by bats, and after he got up he started to run but was struck by a car that was chasing him," said Tirado, who went Friday night to the area near 53rd Street and Sacramento where the caller said Arellano was last seen but could find no sign of him.

The family filed a missing-person report with police Friday night and distributed a flier the following morning. They spent Sunday struggling to understand why a teen that police say had no gang ties was targeted for such a brutal death.

"Cowards," Tirado said as he stood on the back porch of the family's apartment in the 8900 block of South Escanaba Avenue, directing anger toward his nephew's killers. "You guys are not human. A human would not do that to another human being—especially a child, who had no gang affiliation."

Officials at the Cook County medical examiner's office after an autopsy Sunday found that Arellano died from a gunshot wound to the head.

5 A small airplane dropping from the sky after its engine failed wound up on a cushioning bunch of portable toilets in Puyallup, Wash.—and the pilot was able to walk away apparently unhurt.

Deadly explosion

6 A woman has died and her 4-year-old grandson is in critical condition after a hyperbaric chamber exploded at a clinic in Lauderdale-By-The-Sea, Fla. Hyperbaric chambers are filled with 100 percent oxygen and can be used to treat diving injuries and other wounds.

NUNS ON THE RUN

7 LONDON Hundreds of runners dressed as nuns participate Sunday in a charity "Nun Run." The 4-mile run was part of the launch of the "Sister Act" musical. AP

Gay rights rally draws hundreds

8 PHILADELPHIA Hundreds of gay rights demonstrators marched through the streets of the city's historic center on Sunday carrying rainbow-colored flags and signs calling for equal rights in marriage, in the workplace and in health care.

The National Equality Rally was billed as the first national demonstration since 2000 for gay, lesbian, bisexual and transgender rights and the first held outside Washington. The marchers displayed signs from dozens of organizations and photos of people they said had been killed because of their sexualities.

Bryan Berchok, of Upper Bucks County, Pa., listened to the speeches as he held his 4-year-old adoptive son, Shawn, whose face was painted to resemble the black mask of Spider-Man's evil alter ego. He and his partner of 15 years, John Ferraro, said it was difficult and expensive to try to get the same rights afforded to married couples.

"We worry how things would work out if one of us was not able to care for Shawn," Berchok said. "It's just a little scary."

THE PURPOSE

Speakers called for support for gay marriage, more money for AIDS research and an end to workplace discrimination and the military's "don't ask, don't tell" policy, which prohibits gays in the military from being open about their sexual orientation.

Fiat explores creation of new company

9 ROME Fiat Group SpA confirmed Sunday it was in talks to acquire General Motors' European operations with the aim of possibly creating a new company to also include its newly acquired Chrysler automaker.

Combined, the new automaker would have $105 billion in annual revenues, Fiat said in a statement. Fiat said it was evaluating the possible spin-off of its auto business to form the core of the new company. Fiat Group Automobiles includes the Fiat, Alfa Romeo and Ferrari brands.

The statement was issued on the eve of a meeting in Berlin between Fiat Group CEO Sergio Marchionne and the German economy and foreign ministers to discuss Fiat's offer for GM's German unit, Opel. GM has been trying to find investors for its noncore and unprofitable assets as part of a restructuring.

MOUTHWATCH

Here's what some key Bulls players have to say about their future with the team.

Kirk Hinrich

"I would love to play my whole career with Chicago," he said. "I grew up a Bulls fan. I love it here. I love the town. But I don't know if that's realistic. We'll see what happens."

John Salmons

"I love playing here."

Luol Deng

He faces a tough decision on whether to play for Britain's national team this summer. "I love playing for them, but it depends on my injury. Resting my body and getting healthy is important. Ultimately, it's my decision, but I'll listen to what [the Bulls] say because I value their input."

Ben Gordon walks off the court Saturday after the Bulls' loss. Gordon is an unrestricted free agent. NUCCIO DINUZZO/TRIBUNE

Bulls flight?

Team that pushed Boston to Game 7 likely won't look same next season

Chicago Tribune

Boston Celtics coach Doc Rivers has had enough of the Bulls.

When he saw his former teammate and friend Vinny Del Negro late Saturday, Rivers grabbed the Bulls coach in an embrace.

"Hell of a job," Rivers said. "Now trade all those players. I don't want to see them again."

That won't happen. But it's an equally safe bet the 2009-10 Bulls will look different from the team that got on Rivers' last nerve. One change teammates don't want to see is the departure of unrestricted free agent Ben Gordon.

"I love playing with Ben," said Luol Deng, who is expected to return from a leg injury. "We all want him back."

The rapid development of young players like Derrick Rose and Joakim Noah and the stabilizing aspect of veterans like Brad Miller and John Salmons are reasons players are optimistic they should be challenging for home-court advantage in the first round next season. Del Negro listed interior scoring, smarter decisions and better ball movement as areas for improvement. Noah, thankfully, mentioned the need to improve defensively so they can get in transition.

"We have to get better individually and understand it's not going to happen overnight," Noah said. "And just because people say it was a great series, that doesn't mean we're going to get better. We have to actually put in the work."

The biggest decision is Gordon's future. The fifth-year guard said he had "no reason to" switch agents from Raymond Brothers, who has had somewhat acrimonious negotiations with the Bulls over consecutive summers.

Gordon said starting doesn't matter as much as winning, money and respect.

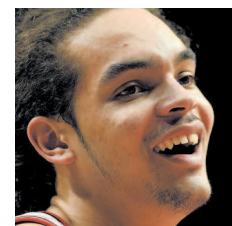

"That's what negotiations are about, how much a player is going to be paid or how much a team is willing to pay a player," Gordon said. "I know what kind of player I am and what kind of impact I can have. I just want to be somewhere where the organization is trying to win a championship."

"... This is a business, and they need to sit down and figure something out. If there's nothing to be figured out, move on and do something else."

Derrick Rose

"My shot isn't going to get better without me working on it." He planned a Sunday night solo workout at the Berto Center.

Joakim Noah

"If I can take one thing from this series, I was on the floor on my [butt] a lot. And I feel beat up. So I have to get stronger."

Gut check

As part of RedEye's hockey bet with newspaper Vancouver 24 Hours, their sports guy, Guts McTavish, sits in. Follow the war at twitter.com/redeyesports.

TOPIC	LEO EBERSOLE lebersole@tribune.com	MARC SILVERMAN espnradio1000.com	ELLIOTT SERRANO redeyesports@tribune.com	BAG BOY redeyesports@tribune.com	GUTS MCTAVISH redeyesports@tribune.com
1 Vancouver is to hockey as ...	... the Ewoks are to the "Star Wars" franchise.	C'mon ... who the heck has any Vancouver jokes?	... Chicago is to rigged elections.	... Leo is to black bean burritos. The product is good, but the producer stinks.	... political corruption is to Illinois. Neither will ever be eliminated.
2 Guts McTavish, introduce yourself. Everyone else, welcome him to the panel.	Guts, your fish-oil scent and lack of grooming fit in surprisingly well here.	McTavish! Organ donor from Honolulu looking for liquor or McDonald's breakfast sandwich?	Welcome, Guts, it's been a lifelong dream of mine to work with a Muppet.	With a name like Guts, you shouldn't be wearing a dress. Don't even try calling it a kilt.	I'm a kilt-lifting Scotsman that's happy to prove the shade of your wife's lipstick.
3 How are you feeling about the Canucks-Blackhawks series now?	I'm on a panel with a puppet and a dude wearing a bag. So, pretty fantastic.	As confident as Ashton Kutcher at "Cougar Fest."	Comfortably numb.	I wish the Hawks weren't so dominating. I'd like to see the series go past Game 5. Sorry, Vancouver.	Well it looks like this series will reach its maximum—kinda like Toews' beard.
4 How can the Canucks-Blackhawks series match the Bulls-Celtics series?	The hitting is there. They just have a lot more crotch-grabbing to do.	Canucks hire Kevin Garnett to yell about "mothers" and "pucks" at Hawks.	Until there's no fighting in hockey, not a chance.	It could be closer. And played with a ball. On a basketball court.	By enforcing more goaltending calls on Dustin Byfuglien when he's inside Luongo's paint.
5 What do you expect from the Bulls next season?	I think a trip back to the playoffs isn't too much to ask. (Cue jinx.)	Better commercials. Please take Zeus, the Grim Reaper, Bigfoot and Luol Deng out of your radio spots.	A new general manager, cuz it's game over for "Paxman."	The last time the Bulls played well in the playoffs, they stunk the next year. So, that.	That they will somehow find a way to finish behind the Vancouver Grizzlies.

No Bulls game. No Blackhawks game. Monday is gonna be weird.

Guess it's back to relying on the White Sox and Cubs. Uh-oh.

Here now, my TV picks.

MLB
Cubs vs. San Francisco
7 p.m. WCIU

Should be a perfect weather day at Wrigley Field. Perfect baseball day? Not so much.

MLB
White Sox at Kansas City
7:10 p.m. CSN

Hard to believe this game will be a battle for first place.

POOL
World Cup of Trick Shots
7 p.m. ESPN2

These are the shots you dream of hitting while at the bar.

HOMETOWN HITS

It seems reasonable for Devin Hester to get less work on special teams as he continues to evolve into a No. 1 receiver. But even with a couple of capable rookies at the Bears' disposal, coach Lovie Smith has no plans to give Hester a break from punt-return duties. "Devin has the chance to score every time," he said. "If one of those [rookies] is a better returner than Devin, then we will put them back there."

The Cubs' Carlos Zambrano bunts for a hit in the fifth inning Sunday, but was injured on the play. SCOTT STRAZZANTE/TRIBUNE

Cubs 6, Florida 4

On a day when the Cubs honored two of their greatest starting pitchers, Ferguson Jenkins and Greg Maddux, their highest-paid pitcher strained a hamstring while beating out a bunt. Carlos Zambrano left in the fifth inning of Sunday's 6-4 victory over Florida, and pinch-runner Rich Harden scored the eventual go-ahead run when Derrek Lee hit a grand slam. Zambrano's next start Friday in Houston is in serious question.

Texas 5, White Sox 1

» Jayson Nix made his first start with the White Sox. Right fielder Jermaine Dye, as expected, was out because of a left hand bruise suffered in Saturday night's loss.

ONE-LINERS

» Tiger Woods finishes fourth at Quail Hollow; Sean O'Hair wins. » Yankees manager Joe Girardi lashes out at potentially damaging biography of Alex Rodriguez. » Rafael Nadal wins a record fourth Rome Masters on Sunday.

The Whizzer Report

GAME 3: Blackhawks
vs. Vancouver
7 p.m. Tuesday, CSN

The Blackhawks' Ben Eager, Adam Burish and Brian Campbell celebrate Eager's goal Saturday during Game 2 against the Vancouver Canucks. AP

By Whizzer

I went out on a limb—or is it thin ice—Thursday when I predicted in the pages of RedEye how the Blackhawks-Canucks series would turn out.

Here's how I've done so far.

GAME 1

PREDICTION: I figured Vancouver would be rusty from nine days off and would fall to the younger, faster Hawks, 4-0.

REALITY: The Canucks won Game 1, 5-3. Vancouver leads series 1-0.

GAME 2

PREDICTION: I thought the Canucks would recover from their Game 1 debacle to squeak by 2-1 in Game 2.

REALITY: The Blackhawks dominated, winning 6-3 and stealing home ice. Series tied 1-1, which is what I expected.

MORE ONLINE

Do women punch as hard as men? How does sex affect female athletic performance? John Brenkus answers those questions and more at redyechicago.com/geektome.

John Brenkus is an average guy.

As host of "Sport Science" on Fox Sports Net (9 p.m. Sundays), he is billed as "aggressively average."

"I think that I represent most of the audience," Brenkus told me in a recent interview. "You know, guys who sit back and are good enough athletes [who] actually think enough of themselves to yell at the TV screen and say, 'What the hell, how can you possibly let him get to the quarterback?'"

On "Sport Science," Brenkus acts as a "human crash test dummy," pitting himself against athletes to demonstrate what separates them from the average Joe.

"It's pretty fun just to see, to get that perspective that the guys on the field are giants. When you're 5-foot-8 and 160 pounds, what would [an NFL tackle] do to you?" Brenkus said. "And when you see you would get thrown around like a rag doll, maybe you should shut up."

Among the commonly accepted sports myths the show explores is Michael Jordan's "hang time."

"Michael Jordan's jump from the free-throw line actually only took .93 seconds. It sounds wrong, but that's what the physics are," Brenkus said.

Some myths are even more intriguing.

"The greatest myth in boxing is that sex depletes your energy," Brenkus said. "[We] tested two-time heavyweight champion Chris Byrd. His ... manager told him his whole career not to have sex two weeks before his fight; you've got to store up the energy; you are stronger when you sort of feel like you're a caged tiger. ... The results are sex makes you stronger; sex increases your athletic performance because it actually releases testosterone." ELLIOTT SERRANO IS A REDEYE SPECIAL CONTRIBUTOR.

Match your mom

Find a Mother's Day brunch tailored for her celebrity style

By Heidi Moore

Your mom knows you better than anyone. She remembers your first haircut and the outfit you wore on your first day of kindergarten—she even has the embarrassing pictures to prove it. Return the favor with a Mother's Day brunch that fits her style.

If she's like: Demi Moore

Take her to: In Fine Spirits, 5418 N. Clark St., 773-506-9463

She's never late for her Pilates lesson, and her newest boy toy has a Twitter feed more popular than Ashton's. Face it, your mom's a cougar. Skip the ho-hum hotel brunch in favor of this Andersonville wine bar. Start with the "Good Life" cocktail ($9.50), a blend of aquavit, ginger liqueur, sugarcane syrup, house bitters and lime, then move on to small plates. Mom's Day specials include a peperonata (stewed peppers) salad with prosciutto and fennel, and diver scallops with pancetta and apple. Moms also nab a free dessert: Think apple-blueberry cobbler or flourless chocolate torte.

Cost: Small plates range $7-$15.

Brunch hours: 1-4 p.m.

If she's like: Gwen Stefani

Take her to:

LaSalle Power Company, 500 N. La Salle St., 312-226-9950

Your mom's a party girl. She lives to rock and can match you shot for shot. Meet her at this new, tri-level River North rock club and eatery. Brunch options, served all day, include truffled corn beef hash served with eggs, buttermilk fried chicken with a saffron waffle and biscuits with chorizo gravy.

Cost: Entrees range $6-$15

Brunch hours: All day, 11 a.m.-2 a.m.

If she's like: Katie Holmes

Take her to: Fred's at Barneys, 15 E. Oak St., 312-596-1111

If your shopaholic mom never leaves home without her

American Express black card and has carpal tunnel syndrome from carrying shopping bags, she'll feel right at home at this swanky new Gold Coast location of Barneys New York. The three-course prix fixe menu includes a glass of Taittinger Champagne or a Taittinger "Mom-osa," a basket of assorted breads and scones, entrees including poached eggs with caviar and brioche French toast, and handmade chocolate truffles for dessert. How's that for fancy?

Cost: $45 for prix fixe

Brunch hours: 11 a.m.-4 p.m.

If she's like: Michelle Obama

Take her to: Sepia, 123 N. Jefferson St., 312-441-1920

She's always been the first lady in your life. Take her somewhere worthy of her style and sophistication. Chef Andrew Zimmerman, formerly of NoMI, rolls out a classy three-course menu for Mom's Day, including a family-style selection of appetizers such as house-made granola and quiche with roasted red peppers, leeks and goat cheese. Main course choices range from eggs benedict with Swan Creek Farm ham to Gunthorp Farms pork porterhouse, and desserts include a fresh fruit tart, dark chocolate mousse and blueberry clafouti.

Cost: $39 adults; $20 children.

Brunch hours: 10 a.m.-6 p.m.

If she's like: Tina Fey

Take her to: Orange, 2413 N. Clark St., 773-549-7833

Orange you glad your mom is as punny as Tina Fey? Nyuck-nyucks aside, your mom deserves a brunch as fun and creative as she is. Take her to the new Lincoln Park location of breakfast empire Orange, featuring eclectic modern decor with black ceilings and orange walls. Start with the spot's signature orange-infused coffee and an order of frushi (fruit sushi), then choose from dishes such as cinnamon roll pancakes or an asparagus, mushroom and thyme omelet with toasted almonds.

Cost: Dishes range $8-$15.

Brunch hours: 8 a.m.-3:30 p.m.

Bird is the Word

Local band proves birds of a feather rock together

Chicago Tribune

The members of Bird Talk take the concept behind their band name very seriously.

Everything from the title of the debut album—"No Bird Left Behind"—to the biography on the group's MySpace page (which notes that the crew was "raised by egrets, educated by owls, founded by quetzals") hints at its feathered namesake. So are their quirky noms de rock—Jumpy (singer/guitarist),

Bird Talk

When: 9:30 p.m.

Wednesday

Where: Empty Bottle, 1035 N. Western Ave.

Price: $10 (21+); 773-276-3600 or ticketweb.com

Shimby (drums), Jacco (bass) and, er, Emily (keyboards)—also taken from rare birds? Or is there something more behind these alter egos?

"Alter egos? Not at all," said Jumpy (born Melissa Marquez). "It just turned out we all had weird little nicknames. Well, except Emily, she's always joking that she has the only normal-sounding name in the band."

The quartet first got together in May 2007 after Marquez posted a Craigslist ad looking for like-minded musicians.

"I'm really into '60s garage music and a lot of those bands are more about having fun and less about being serious," Marquez said. "I knew with this band that I wanted to play simple, fun rock 'n' roll."

Despite the band's relatively simple song structures, the tunes are loaded with sonic details that make everything sound more grand. This helps explain why the four-piece spent nearly five months recording, even though basic tracking (drums, guitars and vocals) was finished in a single weekend. The delay was abetted by the band's living accommodations; three of its members share a house in Pilsen, where recording sessions took place.

"The whole setup of being able to work whenever you want allows you to just keep tinkering with things," Marquez said. "Shimby and I are both [perfectionists], so we'll keep redoing it and redoing it until it sounds exactly like what we had in mind."

And if that sounds exhausting, well, it is. Said Marquez: "At a certain point it's like, 'OK, we've listened to this song literally 1,000 times. We have to stop or we're never going to get done.'"

Former Dillinger haunts hope to cash in on ‘Public Enemies’

Associated Press

MILWAUKEE John Dillinger: America’s most notorious criminal or Robin Hood of the Great Depression?

It doesn’t matter to the Wisconsin Department of Tourism, which wants people to visit Wisconsin locales related to his gang’s time here in the 1930s and the movie filmed in the state, “Public Enemies.” It stars Johnny Depp as Dillinger.

The movie doesn’t open until July 1 but Wisconsin, Illinois, Indiana and Arizona are readying for the onslaught of attention related to the film, which features Dillinger’s escapades through those states.

The Wisconsin tourism department has created itineraries on its Web site of state locales from the movie and of those related to other notorious criminals, such as Al Capone, as well as an illustrated map and video guide.

“Visiting the old battle sites of the war on crime, it’s eerie,” said author Bryan Burrough, whose book “Public Enemies, America’s Greatest Crime Wave and the Birth of the FBI 1933-34” was used to help craft the screenplay for “Public Enemies.”

“Almost all these places still exist,” he said. “A few of them have historical markers, but ... if you walk down the pavement where Dillinger was killed, you would never know. You would have had to read a book or know something about Dillinger.”

Universal Studios and the group that promotes filming in Wisconsin, Film Wisconsin, also plan movie premieres and parties June 30 in Oshkosh, Madison and Milwaukee—where crews filmed.

“Public Enemies” director Michael Mann filmed in the Midwest where Indiana-born Dillinger’s gang killed 10 men, wounded seven, robbed banks and police arsenals, and staged three jail breaks, according to the FBI.

Crews filmed in Manitowish Waters, Wisconsin Dells, Columbus, Darlington, Beaver Dam, and around Mirror Lake in Wisconsin, and Crown Point, Ind., Chicago and L.A.

Depp stars as Dillinger, and Christian Bale co-stars as FBI agent Melvin Purvis. Oscar-winner Marion Cotillard is Depp’s love interest, Billie Frechette.

One of the most dramatic events happened at Little Bohemia Lodge in northern Wisconsin in April 1934. Dillinger and his gang went there to relax and hide from the FBI, but a family member of the owner told the FBI. Agents staged a disorganized and disastrous raid, firing hundreds of bullets. An FBI agent and a bar patron were killed and another FBI agent, a constable and two other guests were wounded. Dillinger and others jumped from a second-floor window and escaped through the woods.

Wisconsin

Here are some “Public Enemies” events in Wisconsin. For more, visit the Wisconsin Department of Tourism at travelwisconsin.com.

- » Little Bohemia (left), a resort near Manitowish Waters, has bullet holes and artifacts from an FBI shootout with John Dillinger, George “Baby Face” Nelson and other gangsters in April 1934.
- » The former American Bank and Trust Co. in Racine, which was held up by Dillinger, is now the Racine Museum of Art. It features “The Scene of the Crime: Warrington Colescott Depicts Dillinger,” May 24-Sept. 6, and the Racine Police Department lobby has a Dillinger submachine gun, mug shots and press clippings on display.
- » A planned July 4 gallery walk in Oshkosh will include displays of photos and artifacts from the film shoot, extras dressed in costume, and an opening of the bank vault where crews filmed; and the Oshkosh Public Museum’s exhibit “The Era of Public Enemies: A Wave of Crime in a Troubled Time” runs June 27-Oct. 18. Oshkosh’s Pioneer Field stood in for Chicago Midway Airport, where Dillinger was flown after his arrest in Arizona. Visitors can see and ride in the vintage plane used for the scene, a Ford Trimotor owned by the Experimental Aircraft Association.
- » Columbus was turned into Greencastle, Ind., where a $75,000 bank robbery took place. The scene was filmed at West James Gallery, a former bank. Columbus’ downtown, which is on the National Register of Historic Places, will host a July 25 celebration that will include a parade, old cars and extras from the movie, music and dancing from the 1930s, a look-alike contest, treasure hunts, tours and there may even be a Johnny Depp look-alike.
- » Milwaukee County Historical Society building in Milwaukee, a former bank, was converted back into a bank by film crews. The society plans to restore some sets.
- » Oshkosh, Madison and Milwaukee will host movie premieres and parties June 30.

Other Dillinger hot spots

These places might host “Public Enemies”-related events prior to the movie’s July 1 premiere. AP

Chicago

Officials at the former Biograph Theater, now the Victory Gardens Biograph Theater, said they hope to run 1934’s “Manhattan Melodrama” around the time “Public Enemies” opens, according to spokesman Jay Kelly. Dillinger was watching the film on July 22, 1934, at the Biograph before he walked out and FBI agents shot him to death.

Arizona

Dillinger and others were arrested Jan. 22, 1934, after a fire at the Hotel Congress in Tucson. They reportedly paid firefighters to get their guns and money but firefighters recognized them. David Slutes, entertainment director at Hotel Congress, said the hotel is having a Dillinger re-enactment, drink specials, a band and a tour of the hotel the day the movie opens.

Indiana

- » The city of Crown Point—where Dillinger broke out of jail on March 3, 1934—is featuring films that star “Public Enemies” cast members during its “Movies In the Park” series this summer. Also, the old sheriff’s house and jail, one of the film’s locations, will be open for tours this summer.
- » At the Indiana State Library in Indianapolis, the Indiana State Archives and others are putting on “Dillinger! Forging a Hoosier Legend” after the movie opens. The exhibit will feature Department of Correction files, mug shots, investigative documents and information about the jail escape.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TAURUS

April 20-May 20

You could experience a financial breakthrough, courtesy of Saturn. If you don't win the lottery, maybe you'll get a juicy raise or sales commission. Spread the love around. There's a loyal someone in your life who might enjoy a nice dinner out.

GET US ON YOUR PHONE

Need your horoscope and don't have RedEye nearby? Head to redeye.chicago.com on your mobile phone.

Gemini

May 21-June 21

You're feeling obsessed about that horrible train wreck of a relationship, the one that nearly turned you into an emotional cripple. Pluto is bringing up all the bad memories. Don't give them any power. You've moved on, and it's time to realize that.

Cancer

June 22-July 22

The full moon is making you gushy and sentimental. You'll take out the photo albums and reminisce about your childhood. You'll dig out your college sweatshirt and wear it, despite the holes and the cat dander. Fortunately, your partner will look the other way.

Leo

July 23-Aug. 22

It takes two to make a relationship. Otherwise it's just you, alone at the bar, weeping silently into your Cosmopolitan. Mercury is reminding you that you need to share. A romance with staying power only happens if two votes count—not just yours.

Virgo

Aug. 23-Sept. 22

Mercury retrograde is kicking in, so this isn't the best time to elope to Vegas with a stripper you just met. You'll be tempted to make wild, stupid moves, so it's best to just chill out. Don't create a big mess that will take ages to clean up.

Libra

Sept. 23-Oct. 23

The moon in your sign is inspiring you to seduce. You'll find it easy to strike up conversations with cuties and hotties. Whenever you're bored with your current situation, flirting helps you get by. Just remember, your honey of the moment might not appreciate it.

Scorpio

Oct. 24-Nov. 21

An intense full moon is bringing up all the emotional angst you've been holding in for weeks. If you blow your top, try not to go nuclear. Aim for a gentle venting. Your significant other will provide support if you don't wound him or her along the way.

Sagittarius

Nov. 22-Dec. 21

Communication could get you into a tangle as Mercury makes words and conversation difficult. It's not a good time to have "the talk." Keep things light and silly. If you can laugh and joke about stuff, you'll soon feel 100 times better.

Capricorn

Dec. 22-Jan. 19

You're attending to unpleasant details this week, thanks to businesslike Saturn. If your former flame still owes you rent money, give her a call. If your ex-spouse hasn't been keeping up on child support payments, make him pay.

Aquarius

Jan. 20-Feb. 18

Take it easy during this Mercury retrograde period. Over the next few weeks, avoid making big decisions about your long-term future. Hang out with friends, date, flirt and socialize, but don't do anything too dramatic. Avoid words like "engagement," "kids" and "mortgage."

Pisces

Feb. 19-March 20

You need some sexual therapy. Don't be afraid to request it. A sensitive moon is making you prickly and overly sensitive. You need to be soothed and seduced. Ask your sweetheart to give you some extra-special attention.

Aries

March 21-April 19

You're acting all lovey-dovey with your significant other. Mercury is increasing your touchy-feely behavior. You'll want to spend every waking hour with your honey. Just make sure your partner gets some oxygen once in a while. It's always nice to breathe.

SCARY TIMES

Things from "American Idol" that could be considered somewhat frightening:

All those Ford commercials

Just when you think they can't get any cheesier ...

The 'Idol' experience

DioGuardi says her stint on show has been 'scary' at times

Whether Kara DioGuardi returns to judge another season of "American Idol" is anyone's guess. She tells TV Guide Magazine she's discussed only one season with the show's bigwigs, but "hopefully they'll keep me on." And Simon Cowell hasn't instilled much confidence in anyone awaiting her return with his comment to the same magazine that he's concerned only with what happens to Ryan Seacrest, Randy Jackson and Paula Abdul.

At any rate, it seems DioGuardi is waiting to find out just like anyone else. "I feel grateful to America that they let me grow and they let me find my groove on the show and that they were patient," she tells TV Guide. "And hopefully I haven't disappointed them. It's been a scary experience at times." DioGuardi's parting thought got RedEye thinking about this season and the things that might be spooking the newbie judge. Here's our list of the top five.

Adam Lambert's rendition of "Ring of Fire"

The supposed front-runner's arrangement and performance of the classic Johnny Cash song was very trippy.

Guest mentor Quentin Tarantino

Few celebrity mentors get as spirited as the "Inglourious Basterds" director got when he appeared on the show in April. Except for Jamie Foxx.

Sitting next to Paula Abdul

When Paula gets up to dance, DioGuardi is right there with her. It is sometimes awkward.

Anoop Desai's rendition of "Beat It"

It was just so karaoke.

All quiet on the Britney front

Britney
Spears at Allstate
Arena.
DAVE SHIELDS/
FOR THE TRIBUNE

Britney Spears rolled into town Tuesday evening without making much of a bang at all.

The pop princess came to Chicago via private jet for two shows at Allstate Arena and seemingly did little else. Spears stayed at the Park Hyatt hotel and was not spotted anywhere aside from there and at her concerts. She received a police escort to both of her shows and came and left through the hotel's garage.

At the very least, Spears has shopped on Oak Street during her past visits, but not this time. The "Overprotected" singer seemed to be just that during her Chicago visit.

At her shows she had little interaction with the audience and even seemed robotic at times.

Taylor Swift popped up at the Tuesday night show and seemed to be a big fan of Spears' performance. "Just finished singing along to 'every time,'" she tweeted from the show. "That was beautiful."

'House' HUNTING

Lisa Edelstein knows how to tease fans of "House" and actor Hugh Laurie.

"He's super sexy, so who could complain about kissing him?" Edelstein told reporters during a Friday conference call to discuss Monday's episode, in which House and Edelstein's Dr. Cuddy—the pair known as Huddy—finally hook up.

"You're not going to see me get naked or anything," Edelstein teased, "but it was a pretty hot scene."

That doesn't mean that after Monday they'll be spending their lives together, but Edelstein kept hush-hush on the details of the May 11 season finale. She did, however, crack a joke about an Internet rumor that Cuddy would end up pregnant with twins.

"I guess I can start eating spaghetti again," she quipped.

THE VELVET ROPE

'Idol' winner's brother dies

Serving as the grand marshal of the Race for Hope cancer benefit on Sunday in Washington, D.C., last season's "American Idol" winner David Cook stunned the crowd with some sad news: He revealed that his brother, Adam, had died of cancer, people.com reported. "I actually lost my brother yesterday to a brain tumor and I couldn't imagine being anywhere else right now," Cook said, according to the Web site.

The best WTF moment goes to ...

Angelina Jolie can add another acting accolade to an impressive year that saw an Oscar nomination for "Changeling": She's up for Best WTF Moment at the MTV Movie Awards. E! News' Marc Malkin reports that the May 31 awards show is adding the new category. Jolie was nominated for her "curved bullet kill" in "Wanted," which was shot in Chicago. Other nominees include Amy Poehler's peeing in the sink scene in "Baby Mama" and Jason Segel letting it all, um, hang out while getting dumped by Kristen Bell in "Forgetting Sarah Marshall."

'Wolverine' attacks

The claws are out. Hugh Jackman's "X-Men Origins: Wolverine" tore up the box-office competition over the weekend, piling up $87 million in its debut in theaters. "It's all systems go," said Chris Aronson, distribution executive for 20th Century Fox, which releases the "X-Men" movies. "Audiences have a huge appetite for Hugh and this character."
